THE SEAL FISHERY QUESTION.

The seizure of the Victoria sealers in Behring's Sea has created much discussion in the eastern Canadian press and directed attention to the subject. The Montreal Herald, whose editor and manager, the Hon. PETER MITCHELL, for many years occupied the position of Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and consequently regarded as an authority on the question has published several very able articles thereon. In a recent issue there appears the following letter received by the Herald from a gentleman who is well informed on the subject on which he writes:

"I was glad to notice an article in the Herald on the seizure of Canadian fishing vessels in Behrings Sea. There is one point, however, in which an error occurs. The fur-seals are not being driven south by the methods of hunting adopted by Americans. The seals spend the entire winter at sea in the North Pacific and go north each spring to breed in the Pribilov Islands in the middle of Behrings Sea. St. Paul and St. George are the two chief sealing islands. In the autumn the seals disperse and go south and are not again seen till the following spring. The breeding islands are strictly protected by the United States, and the company leasing the privilege of sealing there is legally restricted in the number of seals to be killed annually. The contract is with the Alaska Commercial Co., of San Francisco, for a period of 20 years from 1870. The extraordinary grounds taken by the U. S. authorities in protecting the seals will appear from the inclosed extract from U. S. census report (1881).

[Extract from report on fisheries in 10th census, 1881; Seal Islands of Alaska; H. W. Elliott; p. 157.]

"The fur seals of Alaska, collectively and individually, are the property of the general government, and for their special and sole protection the extra legislation of July, 1870, was designedly enacted. Every fur seal playing in the waters of Behring Sea around about the Pribilov Islands, no matter if found so doing one hundred miles from those rookeries, belongs there, has been begotten and born thereon, and is the animal that the explicit shield of the law protects; no legal sophism or quibble can cloud the whole truth of my statement. Construe the law otherwise than a marine license of hunting beyond a marine league (3 miles) from the shores of the Pribilov Islands would soon raise up such a multitudinous fleet that its up such a multitudinous fleet that its cruising could not fail, in a few short years, in so harassing and irritating the breeding seals as to cause their withdrawal from the Alaskan rookeries and a probable retreat to those of Russia, a source of undoubted Muscovitic delight and of corresponding shame and loss to us."

"The matter is, however, now thoroughly appreciated and understood at the Treasury Department, and has been during the past four years, as the seal pirates have discovered to their chagrin and discomforture."

"Of late years an increasing number of schooners have been fitted out from Victoria to take seals in the open sea off the west coasts of Vancouver and Queen Charlotte Islands in the early spring when these animals are on their way northwards. This fishery is not conducted on shore as on the Seal Islands, but sometimes as much as 100 miles from land. The schooners took on board large crews of Indians with their canoes, the Indians living on board and hunting during the day in fine weather, getting a percentage on each seal taken. It is probable that the schooners seized were carrying on the same kind of fishery further north. I may also mention that a number of U. S. schooners have engaged in this fishery on the west coast of Vancouver, and have been in the habit of shipping crews of our Indians from that coast unmolested."

THE gross earnings of the New Brunswick Railway Company for the month of June were 13,042 dols. more than in the same month of 1885. The Company's financial year closes on the 30th of June, and in the period just ended the gross earnings were 756,937 dols. as against 661,593 dols., showing an increase of 95,344 dols. In the first six month of the fiscal year the working expense were about 67½ per cent., and taking the same rate for the second half, the net earnings would be 244,490 dols. From this is to be deducted rentals, says 113,192 dols.; so that the actual net profit may be 131,298 dols. These figures are exclusive of what the Company receive for stumpage, the earnings under this head having six month ago been estimated at 50,000 dols. for the year.

A CAMPAIGN CRY.

Cabinet Ministers Accused—An Investigation Into a Serious Charge.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—A telegram from Montreal says: A secret inquiry is making into the truth of A. M. Chagnon's allegations that cabinet ministers have maintained certain relations with women clerks in the Government department at Ottawa. It is stated that at the instance of Hon. Mr. Bowell, Minister of Customs, detectives have been employed to ascertain the facts in the matter. Mr. Bowell resents the imputation of wrong conduct on his part, and is determined that the guilt, if any exists, shall be placed where it belongs. It has been stated that women have sacrificed themselves to obtain places of promotions for their husbands, and that many women are retained on the pay rolls solely because of their personal charms. Some of the ministers are accused of taking these clerks with them on official and private tours through the country, and the names of both the men and the women are alleged to have appeared on the hotel registers. This is indignantly denied, and the general impression is that it is merely a campaign cry of the Opposition.

A MEMORABLE DEBATE.

Parnell's Amendment A Spirited Debate and Discussion on the Question.

A Political Wanting—Sir William Harcourt's Position and Aspirations.

Mr. Justin McCarthy in his weekly letter for the week ending 29th ult., says: The debate on Mr. Parnell's amendment, which came to a close at about one this morning, was one of the most powerful and best sustained we have had in the House of Commons for many years. Mr. Parnell's own speech was singularly impressive, and was acknowledged to be such by all who listened to it. Mr. Gladstone was almost at his best, I mean his best of recent years. Mr. Chamberlain's bitter, spiteful, and malignant speech was, as a mere piece of parliamentary polemic and rhetoric,

THE FINEST DISPLAY

he has ever made. Mr. Labouchere was delightfully sarcastic and droll. I cannot say anything higher in praise of Mr. Sexton than to declare that while everybody was waiting his speech with the most intense anxiety no one was disappointed with it when it came. Of course, the amendment was DEFEATED BY A LARGE MAJORITY.

That was expected, and was, indeed, inevitable. Mr. Gladstone and many other Liberals who avowed themselves favorable to the principle of the amendment, abstained from voting on the ground that it would not be reasonable to ask too much from the government at the very moment of their coming into office. Two of our Irish members were away in America. One other, who was in the House of Commons all the time, abstained from voting and even from taking his seat, in the formal sense of the word, because he was advised on the best legal authority that by taking his seat for the county which lately elected him he might prejudice his claim to be declared elected on petition of the sitting member for an Ulster city, which he contested at the general election. The actual members, therefore, who voted for Mr. Parnell's amendment do not by any means represent the numbers of men in the Commons who favor its object. One great result of the debate is that the Irish landlords' chances of being bought out at the cost of the ratepayers of the three kingdoms are gone forever. In the Commons this session one sees

A CURIOUS SIGHT.

What is called the front Opposition bench, the bench which faces the Treasury bench on which the Ministers sit, is usually occupied by members of the Government which has latest gone out of office. The men who come into office occupy the front Opposition bench. This time, however, Lord Hartington and Mr. Chamberlain, who helped to turn out Mr. Gladstone's Government, insisted on the right to sit on the front Opposition bench, on the ground that they are still Liberals, still members of Mr. Gladstone's party in their general principles, and were members of Mr. Gladstone's Government. The result of this resolve has been that men ranged side by side on the same bench get up and denounce each other with all the fervor of political rivalry and fury and personal hate. Mr. Chamberlain stands up just beside Mr. John Morley, and rattles at Morley as if the two had been life-long opponents. Sir Wm. Harcourt gets up and declaims away vigorously and vehemently at Mr. Chamberlain, who is sitting on the same bench and just under his eyes. I remember Disraeli once humorously complaining to the House of Gladstone's energy of invective and observing, amid the delighted laughter of the House, that he was often glad to remember a very solid piece of furniture stood between the right honorable gentleman and himself. That solid piece of furniture was a table placed between the

TREASURY AND THE OPPOSITION BENCHES,

covered with reference books, standing orders, and big despatch boxes. But now in the new divisions of parties, the protection of a solid piece of furniture is not always of any avail. If in some future debate Mr. Chamberlain should sting Sir Wm. Harcourt into unconquerable fury there is no barrier between the two men, nothing to prevent Sir William simply falling with all his vast bulk and weight upon the slender form of the hapless Chamberlain and crushing him out of existence. Once in the course of his speech on Thursday Mr. Chamberlain was interrupted by some remark from a former colleague in office, Mr. Henry Fowler. Mr. Chamberlain got angry, and, looking sharply at Mr. Fowler, who was sitting on the same bench near, said the remark was nonsense. Suppose now that Mr. Fowler had lost his temper, what barrier was there to prevent him from addressing his remonstrance to Mr. Chamberlain's left eye? Something will have to be done, I think. In days long past it used to be the way with the men of the different parties to sit side by side. Many a time did pitch into each other from the selfsame bench. But our generation has never before seen anything of the kind. It adds immensely to the oddity of the whole condition of things. Perhaps when Mr. Chamberlain is backing up the Tories and denouncing the Irish Nationalists, when Sir Wm. Harcourt is thundering for Home Rule and speaking as if he rather preferred Parnell to his own brother, it is but natural that there should be some curious novelty also in the outward aspects of the debate. Sir Wm. Harcourt is a strange man. He made a very powerful speech last night. I do not know that he ever spoke so powerfully before. Probably he is spirited on now by a fresh hope of the succession of the Liberal leadership, which at one time seemed lost to him for ever. Now that Lord Hartington, Mr. Chamberlain, and Mr. Dilke are out of the way, his chances shines again. This probably animated him with added power. I wish anyone could think that Sir Wm. Harcourt is sincere, but if anyone does think anything of the kind I certainly never heard anyone say it.

SIR ROBERT WALPOLE AND PULTENEY

GENERAL SUPT. OLDS

Returns to the East—What he has Accomplished for the C. P. R. on the Coast.

A Chicago despatch announces the arrival in that city of Mr. Olds, traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific, after an almost continuous trip of five weeks. While out west he arranged for the immediate opening of several important agencies in California and Oregon. At San Francisco D. B. Jackson was appointed ticket agent, M. M. Stern general freight and passenger agent. At Portland, Mr. C. P. Dixon was appointed agent. Mr. W. Van Waters was appointed agent at Seattle in charge of business at all Puget Sound points. A Mr. Carleton was appointed agent at Victoria. Mr. Olds said that the company's new line to Halifax was about half done. It would be a short line between Montreal and Halifax, 500 miles in length. While in San Francisco he perfected arrangements for competing for the California traffic, and appointed an agent, with headquarters in that city, to take care of the company's affairs in California. A traffic agreement was sought with the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company, but rejected by the latter, and consequently his company makes whatever rates it sees fit. It is securing a good deal of traffic from the Oregon railroad territory, and is carrying considerable salmon from the mouth of the Columbia river to St. Paul, Chicago and other eastern points. Mr. Olds speaks in glowing terms of the future prospects of this road, and thinks it will be able to compete successfully against all the Pacific roads.

LONDON SOCIETY.

Aristocracy of Birth Giving Way to Aristocracy of Wealth in London.

The aristocracy of birth is giving way more and more to the aristocracy of wealth in England, says Truth. Another parallel complaint is that if things go on at the present rate, there will soon be more American women than English women in London. At Mrs. Social Aspirant's first party she must have half a dozen assorted great ladies and half a dozen society beauties. At her second the prince must be captured, by hook or crook, and the princess also, if possible, which is easily done by getting hold of some lady in the Prince's set. Judicious presents will secure these decoy ducks. The "some one in society" to bid the guests and act as spanger can always be had by paying the price of the article. A certain well known lady of New York was said some years ago to have captured the downger Duchess of St. Albans as opulent and bosom friend by the simple process of paying all Her Grace's bills. In case of a hitch a house at Ascot or near Goodwood or Cowes, with a beauty lady or two to stay through the week, is a very fetching bait. At Cowes a yacht is a handy addition to the bill of fare. In no European capital are social aspirants so likely to succeed as in London. Paris society is more difficult of access than it used to be for foreigners, but in London tradesmen hail them as a boon, and so do the pleasure-loving but close-fisted aristocracy. They may be laughed at and snubbed a little at first, but if they persevere they may soon be in a position to snub back and to set up as extra high and dry exclusives themselves.

FROM THE EAST.

The First Excursion Party from Winnipeg to the Pacific Coast.

The Winnipeg Sun of the 1st states that Mr. Somers, passenger agent of the C. P. R in Winnipeg, has been busy for some time past making arrangements for the pioneer excursion party from Winnipeg to British Columbia. The names of the excursionists who have already handed in their names up to the present are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strang and Miss Strang, Mr. and Mrs. Wishart, and Miss Wishart, Mr. W. Scott and Miss Scott, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Pelkey, Mr. and Mrs. Somer, George Winks, John Spring, Dr. Good and Mr. Glines. In addition to those, other parties in the city wish to go, but are as yet undecided, whilst many outside parties from the country have signified their desire to join the excursion. One of the elegant new sleepers will convey the party, and a handsome souvenir programme descriptive of the route, the trip and the points of interest, and containing the names of those composing the pioneer excursion party, will be prepared. The greater number of the excursionists will stay stay for a week or so in British Columbia and others will stay over for a time at Banff Springs. Following this excursion will be a trip from the Pacific coast over the C.P.R of seventy Knights Templar bound for St. Louis, who will remain over a day in Winnipeg.

A FLOATING PALACE BURNED.

The elegant steamer, Daniel Drew, of the Albany Day line, plying between New York and Albany was burned to the water line at Kingston Point, N. Y., on Sunday afternoon, the 29th ult. A fire broke out in an engine house on the dock, which in a short time was communicated to the steamer. A strong wind blew directly over the vessel, fanning every spark into a blaze. Some of the watchmen who attempted to put the fire out were obliged to jump overboard to escape the flames. The boat was burned to the waters' edge and the hull sank. The loss is estimated at from $150,000 to $200,000. The boat was one of the fastest and largest on the Hudson. She was built in 1892. She has attained a speed of 26 miles an hour.

THE PREMIER REACHES OTTAWA.

Sir John reached Ottawa on the afternoon of the 30th August, and on that evening was accorded an enthusiastic reception in the Opera House, and presented with an address of welcome. There was a large attendance present. The premier, in reply to the address, said he felt much better for the trip, and was in excellent spirits. His appearances with Lady Macdonald evoked a storm of cheers. Sir Hector Langevin and Messrs. Thompson, Carling, Tasse, Mackintosh, and Senator Clemow delivered speeches. They were all well received, and the people seemed pleased at Sir John's having made the trip to the Pacific Coast.

THE C. P. R. EXHIBIT CAR.

The C. P. R. car of exhibits for the Toronto exhibition left Winnipeg for the east on last Monday evening. It consists of samples of cereals, minerals and woods, collected along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway from here to the Pacific Coast. The woods consist of blocks of pine and cedar from the Pacific slope. The pine is eight feet in diameter and the cedar six feet, six inches. There is also a fine sample of cottonwood two feet in diameter. The exhibit taken altogether is a very credit able and representative one.

NEWS BY CABLE.

THE MIGHTY CZAR.

A Blow at Germany Through Alexander in which Austria is also Affected.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The Post's Berlin correspondent says: Emperor William proposed to Alexander to telegram to the Czar as the best means of effecting a reconciliation, and that the Czar's reply was therefore a direct blow at Emperor William. The correspondent further says the news of Alexander's abdication caused the utmost indignation against Russia among German army officers.

Advices from Vienna say that the news of Alexander's abdication was received with consternation there, the Prince's action being looked on as the beginning of a serious stage of the Bulgarian question. It is believed in Vienna that his ablication will not deter Russia from attempting to occupy Bulgaria, a proceeding which Austria cannot allow.

TURKEY ARMING.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 6.—It is rumored that in accordance with the advice given by two friendly powers Turkey is making military preparation on the Asiatic frontier; also orders have been given to supply the army in Erzroum and along the border with additional guns, stores and munitions. This activity is due to the movements on part of Russia, which is supposed to be making efforts to guage the military and naval strength of Turkey. A suspicious foreign artist has been seen making sketches of forts outside of Constantinople. Though he was agent of Russia. It is learned that large contracts have been made on Russian account for coal for Odessa and that a contract has been made to supply thirty thousand tons of metal plates of twelve inches thickness and with steel facing for Russian arsenals on the Black Sea.

The Bulgarian crisis it is feared will have a critical effect in Servia.

Mr. Van Horne was also at the station, and accompanied Mr. Egan to St. Paul. From there he will proceed east to Montreal. As the train moved out, three hearty cheerty cheers were given for Mr. Egan, and were acknowledged by that gentleman. YELLOW FEVER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Health officers last night found Grant Golden, a fireman on Atlas steamer Alva, suffering from yellow fever in St. Vincent's hospital. The steamer came in last week from a voyage to the West Indies and South American ports, and Golden who is a Scotchman took board at 231 West street. Saturday he was taken ill and by Sunday the characteristic symptoms of yellow fever had developed. Health officers removed him to St. Vincent's hospital where he is now dying. Steamer, hospital and boarding house have been disinfected.

THE COAL TRADE.

Anthracite Coal in the Rocky Mountains—Canmore to be the Shipping Point.

In the opinion of the Winnipeg Sun the fuel question of the Northwest is about to undergo another revolution. Tests are now being made of coal from the "Cascade mine" on the Canadian Pacific and Northwestern railroads of anthracite coal from the mine of Major Stewart. It is some time, adds the Sun, since the problem was declared to have been "solved." The first discoveries of coal, even of the softer varieties, made this clear, and since then the quality has gone on improving step by step, from the Medicine Hat output to that from the Galt mines, and finally to the coal now under consideration, which is obtained near Canmore. The experiments so far have been of the most satisfactory character, and it is probable that on the Mountain division of the Canadian Pacific a great saving will be effected by discarding the burning of wood and using instead the coal from these mines, which has located convenient to a divisional terminus. But little has been done as yet in the way of development, but, on the conclusion of the present tests, the half-dozen men now employed will give place to a large staff, and development will follow on a large scale, under the management of men imported from Pennsylvania for the purpose. It is not probable that this winter the coal will come into very general use in Winnipeg, as nearly all that can be produced will be consumed in the west. But it is the intention of the company to introduce the article here, and, despite the nine hundred miles of haulage, at a considerable reduction on the price now paid for American hard coal. The enterprise is certainly one deserving of success, as cheapening the cost of heating in a cold country, and as developing the resources of the country and keeping the money of our people at home." To all of which THE TIMES says amen!

B. C. IN THE EAST.

A Visitor Returns to Montreal from a Visit to British Columbia—His Impressions

A Montrealer who has just returned from a trip over the Canadian Pacific to British Columbia states that the newly discovered sulphur springs at Harrison Lake, situated some distance from Port Moody, promise to eclipse the already famous spring at Banff. A party named Brown, has taken hold of the place, has erected a commodious sanitarium with 100 baths for transient guests and 50 for invalids. The spring comes bubbling out of a pool about ten feet square and the water is so hot as to boil an egg hard in a very few minutes. A road is now being built from the Canadian Pacific main line to the springs, and about $60,000 is being expended on the hotel. The water after it has been bottled some days loses its sulphurous flavor, becomes effervescent and is very similar to apollinaris. Last week forty-two visitors were at the springs and a number of cures were effected upon those suffering from rheumatism and skin diseases. Those who have taken the baths at Banff greatly prefer the Harrison Springs.

The Bank of Montreal has purchased an excellent site on Granville street, Vancouver, near the C. P. R. hotel, and a very handsome structure is to be erected. Lots on this street advanced from $1000 to $4000 inside of a week. The wharf of the C. P. R., 500 feet long, together with large freight sheds, are nearly completed. The R. C. authorities have purchased eight lots on Granville street.

VICTORIA ABROAD.

A Whitehaven journal, referring to Mr. Pickering, who is now on his way to this city to take charge of the water works construction, says that he has received by salvage a portion of his effects lost by the sinking of the Oregon last winter. It further adds: Mr. Pickering's firm has just completed a set of drawings, plans, tracings and details, quantities and specifications, for the undertaking in respect of which his transatlantic voyage was undertaken, viz., the sewerage of the city of Victoria, Vancouver's Island, Canada West. These consist of some 30 sheets; and, so far as a non-professional eye may judge, they are highly creditable in every respect.

We are apt to be careless about these distant colonies, owing to want of general knowledge of them; but Victoria is now the home of many Cumberland men, and has a claim to our regard. Its chief magistrate is Mr. James Fell, who was born and brought up at Muncaster Head. Another of its citizens is Mr. Tom Milligan, late of Whitehaven, who is doing well.

The present population of Victoria is smaller than that of Whitehaven, but it is rapidly increasing. The streets are laid out for a city of large size. The sewerage system for which Messrs. Pickering and Crompton are sending out plans will cover an area of about 2000 acres, while Whitehaven covers about 600 acres. The estimates are not completed, but the cost will be, roughly speaking about £70,000 or £80,000. That is how they look ahead in the far west, where there is plenty of room for expansion, where there is no lord of the manor and no "hard and circle."

RECIPROCITY COMING.

In the opinion of the Halifax Chronicle there are not wanting evidences that the highest commercial authorities in the United States are in favor of a reciprocity treaty between the Republic and Canada. It is manifestly to the advantage of both countries that such a treaty should be arranged. The present condition of affairs is injurious to both. The cutting-off-your-nose-to-spite-your-face policy which has existed for a number of years has resulted in bringing thinking men on both sides of the line to a sense of the ridiculous features of the situation. With the exception of the selfish and pestilential protectionists on either side of the artificial boundary that divides us, there is not a man worth his salt who will not admit that it would be mutually advantageous to have the greatest liberty of exchange and commercial freedom. To tax products passing over the border line, either on the one side or the other, is the very acme of imbecility. Such a perversion of common sense could find no defenders in communities whose judgments were not warped, twisted and corrupted by pampered, pap fed legalized paupers, otherwise called protectionists. Was there ever such a shameless system of robbery and deception framed and carried out among civilized and rational people than the system pursued by the protectionists of the United States and Canada? History fails to find a parallel. It is this class of people who stand in the way of reciprocity between us and our southern neighbors. How long shall they be permitted to rule? That is the question that comes home to us in Canada with peculiar force. It is unquestionable that the present Canadian government is ruled by these legalized plunderers.

The Chronicle is glad to see that on the other side of the line there is an awakening sense of the importance of establishing a better condition of affairs. We copy the following article from Bradstreet's, the leading financial and commercial journal in the United States:

While little has been said in New England for several years about the advantages of reciprocity with Canada, the topic is a live one in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. A Halifax journal, after reviewing the situation fully, comes to the conclusion that "there is very little commercial relationship between the several provinces of Canada, but there is a natural and unconquerable relationship between each province of this Dominion and the States to the south of it. Artificial barriers are unwise and mischievous, and this is the great lesson we have all got to take to heart. Nova Scotia's commercial interests are eternally bound up with the New England states. It goes much deeper than any mere fisheries question; it relates to all articles of commerce and barter." Meanwhile it is becoming plain to all on this side of the line, except those who refuse to see, that the almost daily controversies over fishing and commercial rights can be adjusted only by the ratification of a new treaty of some sort between the United States and Great Britain. The treaty, when it comes, can well have a broader scope than the last one.

Such words, coming from such a source, are most encouraging. With the present Canadian government in power, bound hand and foot by protectionist influence, it is not possible that a treaty can be arranged having a "broader scope than the last one." But the present government has no lease of power beyond an appeal to the people. Whenever that appeal is made they will be driven into obscurity. Then, whether Nova Scotia remains in the union or not, it is beyond a reasonable degree of doubt that the present deplorable fetters and shackles which hamper and harass commerce between us and our southern neighbors will be removed. There will be a reciprocity treaty, and, in the language of Bradstreets, on a "broader scope than the last one."

THE SEAL'S NATIONALITY.

The Montreal Herald is severe on the American government regarding the Behring Sea fishery question. In a recent issue it observes that "it appears from our correspondent's explanation that the United States Government is acquainted with the natal place of every individual seal, and that however far from its native shore this playful denizen of the deep may roam it remains the property of the United States. No three mile restriction, whether from sinuosities of the shore or headland measurement, are permitted to govern the title to this species of personal estate. Once an American seal always an American, so long as he is artful enough to keep his skin on his back. The British Columbian seal hunters, living in the belief that the ocean and its native inhabitants are common property, have attempted to pursue their calling within a distance of some hundred miles from American territory, and their vessels have been seized for so doing. Another American steamer, the "Bear," has just been sent north to further emphasize the fact of which the British Columbians, and the rest of the world outside the United States, were not aware. The N. Y. World in an article on this subject, implies that the taking of these seals is a retaliatory measure, for the taking by Americans of Canadian mackerel, and deprecates such a proceeding on the ground that a seal is a more valuable creature than a mackerel, and that the plan, therefore is jug handled and quite English. It would be quite English, very English indeed, to allow the United States to put any interpretation they please on treaties, definitions, etc., bearing on British possessions on this continent and were British interests cared for only by statesmen in England, we have no doubt that our neighbors would have no difficulty in showing that anything between the North Pole and Terra del Fuego which the the Americans desired was, if not American property, at least as much theirs as anyone else's, while anything that Canadians might require was strictly American property held in trust by the central Government for the sovereign States of the Union. But as Canada is directly interested in a large portion of the North American continent, she does not propose to accept the views of the United States on all questions as dogmas that must not be questioned. They are at the best but pious opinions and as such are subject to controversy. This newly advanced claim to a large slice of the North Pacific Ocean is one that cannot be lightly accepted. We do not know, over in Canada, how the Behring Sea came to be the property of the United States, or of Russia, or of anyone else, and it will be a shock to our national pride if we find that a seal is not allowed to change his nationality even by coming into Canada but is subject always to seizure by the sovereign, whether man or people, under whose rule he was born. The United States must have purchased this theory from the Czar of all the Russias when they bought Alaska. It is a theory difficult to put in practice, because as a matter of fact seals are born in certain parts of Canadian territory, and being of a roving nature may at certain seasons of the year be found amongst those that acknowledge the Stars and Stripes as the flag of their nationality. Unless the system of branding the seal calves is adopted, it is difficult to see how at the time of the round up, the republican is to be distinguished from the monarchical mammal. The only plan that we can suggest—and we trust that it is one the British and Canadian Governments will make their own—is that the American waters should be considered as extending only to a certain distance from the shore; measuring from headland to headland where the land on either side is American territory; and that such distance should be set down as three miles. This is a more liberal interpretation of common International law (backed by treaty) than our neighbors are desirous of making when Canada's interests are concerned, but it is the right one and therefore should be insisted upon.

U. S. SENATOR FRYE says that "any man who goes about labelled 'I am honest,' is not to be trusted." This saying has some philosophy in it, but it is as old as the New Testament. On the other hand, Senator Frye does not so label himself, but he might as well do so, as he wants to steal our fish.

IF COL. GILDER reaches the North Pole, he may be suprised to find, like the Yankee visitor to the crater of Vesuvius, that "the darned thing is hollow." At all events there is very little in these Arctic expeditions. Any man who hankers to drink train oil and sleep in the snow might more conveniently go to Winnipeg this fall and grow up with the banana crop.

MR. JOEL COOK, correspondent of the London Times, is on a visit to the Northwest in company with Mr. Van Horne. Another evidance of the recently awakened interest taken by the "Thunderer" in the progress of Canada. As said before, the Exhibition articles which have appeared in the leading journal of Great Britain, are calculated to be of the most substantial benefit of thi country.

THE American Manufacturer and Iron World says that the third generation of glass works at Pittsburgh is now training the fourth; the first factory was started on the Monongahela in 1797. There are now for making window-glass 15 establishments, 286 pots, 16,75 men, annual wages $1,350,000; value of plant $2,000,000; for making table ware, 14 firms, 32 factories, 340 pots; wages $2,275,000; plant $1,580,000. For making glass chimneys, 7 firms, 11 factories, 134 pots, 1,465 hands; wages $600,000; plant, $500,000; products 30,000,000 lamp chimneys, besides almost numberless candy jars, reflectors, lanterns, globes, etc; value of product $1,100,000 a year. There are besides 11 flint and 11 green-glass factories, with 1,750 hands, earning $850,000 wages; value of plant $1,100,000. Stained glass, glass signs, and druggists wares furnish business for several other factories.

BRILLIANTS.

To-day is ours, what do we fear!
To-day is ours; we have it here!
Let's treat it kindly, that it may Wish at least with us to stay.
Let's banish business, banish sorrow;
To the gods belongs to-morrow.

—Anacreon.

Fast falls the snow, O lady mine!
Sprinkling the lawn with crystals fine;
But, by the gods, we won't repine
While we're together.
We'll chat and rhyme, and kiss and dine,
Defying weather.

So stir the fire and pour the wine!
And let those sea-green eyes divine
Pour their love-madness into mine!
I don't care whether
'T is snow, or sun, or rain or shine,
Ir we 're together.

—Mortimer Collins.

Mrs. Joe Emmet's Fine Dogs.

Of course you remember Mr. Emmet's great St. Bernard, Hector. He is a fine dog, but Mrs. Emmet's pets surpass the record in that line. When the family were last in England they bought from Mrs. Mary Ann Troughear, of Bury, a small Yorkshire terrier, which now weighs but five pounds, and is small enough to be carried about in a glass case no larger than a cigar box. This dog, called Champion Conqueror, has hair eight inches long, softer than a camel's hair brush, which is usually parted on the forehead and tied back behind his ear with a ribbon in order to enable him to see. The hair on the body is of a genuine silver and blush tint, and trails the ground. His ears are of a dark tan color, his forehead a light blonde, with shades of gold, as are also his legs; the muzzle and beard of a rich tan, while the hair around his nose and hips are black, and his eyes are a very dark hazel. This dog carried off fifty-eight first prizes and three champion prizes, such as gold and silver cups, medals and money, and was finally entered for the challenge prize, the highest of all, which he easily won.

Then Mr. Emmet purchased the dog for his wife, paying $1,250 for him. Mrs. Emmet has another pet dog, no larger than a kitten, which cost $500 on the West India docks in London. This one is a Japanese spaniel pug called Ching Ching. He weighs six pounds and is carried about in a small leather sachel with a wire front to it. It is said that in Japan these dogs are only owned by royalty, but Ching Ching was stolen by a sailor and carried to England. He is a beautiful little animal and is always very playful.—St. Louis Republican.

The Boston Science of Mind-Cure.

I have recently become a convert to the Boston science of mind-cure. I was converted to it by my wife, who has studied the subject earnestly and is a firm believer in the power of the will as a healing and conquering influence. She is herself a living illustration of the efficacy of the will not only in curing but in preventing ailments. For a long time she has been subject to neuralgic attacks, and found no relief until the mind-cure was suggested to her. She did not go to any school or professor of the science, but merely studied and read the subject and evolved a process which consists, I believe, in merely placing the strength of her will against the approach of the ailment. She is a woman of great will power, and when she makes of her mind that she don't want anything to do with neuralgia, neuralgia has got to stay away, and it does.—J. K. Emmet in Globe-Democrat.

Progress in the Dentist's Art.

There has been no change in the manner of pulling teeth in the past twenty-five years; the old way of catching them with the forceps and jerking them out is still the only reliable and effective way of getting rid of them that is known to dentistry. There are, of course, methods which are called painless, but there is nothing sure or good about them. Other branches of the profession, though, have progressed, and we have almost perfect machinery for the cleansing, filling and fitting of teeth. Electricity, too, has been applied, furnishing the power for a machine that is used to give the soft, steady blows required in filling teeth.

Some dentists now take out a tooth, or several teeth, clean them, and set them back in their places, where they take new root. This is called grafting. It is too painful to be generally practiced. Other improvements that may be mentioned are the new crowns which are put on old stumps or roots, and the process of "bridging," by which two or three teeth may be put in without using a plate, bands of gold passing between and around the false teeth joining to the natural teeth at either side and holding them in place.—"Dentist" in Globe Democrat.

ECONOMICAL VS. POOR LIVING.

Mistake Made by Many Writers When Treating of Kitchen Economies.

This is the season of the year when almost every paper has some advice, more or less senseless, upon the subject of economical living, addressed to those whose small incomes are supposed to require special care in their administration. The trouble with most of these articles—and they seem to be unusually common this fall—is that in general the writer confounds economical, or cheap, living with poor, and most of the bills of fare that are formulated upon such an idea are simply detestable. Within certain limits the best is the cheapest, and, per contra, the poorest is never the most economical.

Writers on cheap living lay down as one of the fundamental rules that vegetables should not be omitted from the bill of fare of any person, however moderate his income, and usually proceed to put in cabbage and turnips as such vegetables, when all the world knows that they are about as indigestible and unnutritious as anything that grows. Why these table economists do not go one step further and recommend hay and cut straw instead of cabbages and turnips is a mystery known only to themselves. Cabbage contains seventy-three parts of nutriment in each 1,000, and turnips forty-two, while potatoes contain 193, oats 148, beans 220, peas (dry) 993, and parsnips, squash, apples, and onions rank high as nutritious, easily digested, and wholesome vegetables for the table.

The truth is that cabbages and turnips are the most expensive articles of common vegetable food a poor man can put upon his table. They are grown for beasts, and their proper place is the barnyard. The same rule applies to meats. The poor-food economist advises the purchase of beef shins, neck pieces, fore-quarter veal, gristles, and other cuts made up of seven-tenths bone and two tenths gristle to one of meat. The Cheery is that a poor man can take out the nine-tenths bone and gristle, supply its place with water, and make a soup with the one-tenth meat. When he has thrown away his bones and refuse he will find the meat has cost him double price, however cheap the water may be. It is a waste of money to buy such stuff. A fair roast of beef, a good boiling piece, or a supply of corn beef cuts only a trifle more than shins and rumps, but they are far more economical. Pork is better and cheaper than veal, and mutton is better than pork. Poor living is not by any means economical living.—Chicago News.

There was a moment's silence. Then the poor, miserable little waif fell down at Bootles' feet, and flung his arms round his knees.

EXPERIMENTS IN EYE-PLANTING.

Several Operations Which Were Not Successful—A Rabbit's Eye.

In May, 1885, Dr. Chilbert made the attempt to transplant a living rabbit's eye to the eye-socket of a person. A girl of 17 years of age had a grape-swelling upon her eye which made its removal necessary. As soon as the eye was taken out the doctor instantly removed the rabbit's eye, leaving around the corner the narrow edge of the ligature. Washing it in an antiseptic solution he then placed it in the eye socket of the patient, sewing the ligature to that of the patient's eye with a few stitches. The eye appeared to live for a while, but the liquid flowed out, and the operation was not a success. The shell however, remained in its place, and looked like the remains of the human eye.

Soon after Terrier, Rohmer, and finally Bradford, of Boston, made similar experiments. Terrier first operated upon a strong, healthy man whose eye had been hurt by an accident. Instead of removing the sclerotic—the cell liquid which surrounds the eye—he kept it there, but in spite of this precaution the experiment failed. The patient of Rohmer was a woman 46 years old. Instead of a rabbit's eye, this surgeon took a dog's eye for his experiment. The result was less successful than that of the others, but the shell of the eye remained living several days, when, becoming inflamed, it was removed, fearing the other eye might suffer from its presence.

Mr. Bradford, of all the experiments, seems to have met with the most success. He operated upon the eye of a sailor, who for years had been troubled with an incurable eye disease. Increasing the number of stitches in joining the ligatures, he also succeeded in uniting the optic nerves of the man's eye, and the rabbit's, finishing with a bandage over the eye, which was not removed until the lapse of seven days. At the end of this time the eye seemed pretty firm in its socket, but the cornea appeared opaque. Eighteen days after the cornea became transparent, the eye solid, and its movements natural. The operation was a perfect success except in one important particular.

As will be seen, eye-transplanting has not reached the certainty of surgical success, as when the eye is restored the restoration of the eyesight is out of the question, the operation merely replacing a lost eye with an animal's eye. The operations fall far below the expectations the enthusiasts had attached to them, so that the time when we can change the color of our eyes as we can the color of our hair or the form of our teeth has not yet arrived. However, it may come, as the inventive spirit of man is traveling upon various roads just at the present time.—Foreign Letter.

"Let Us Live by the Way."

I have attended some pretty big banquets at the London Mansion house in Lord Mayor Cotton's time—banquets that, to do them bare justice, required quite two hours and a half to get through if eaten deliberately; but I think the longest menu I ever met was that of the "Modern society," of New York. The motto on the card is: "As we journey through life let us live by the way"—in moderation; and then follow fourteen articles under the head of "appetizers." Course No. 1 was small clams, upon which six wines danced attendance. Then followed bisque, watermelon, with six varieties of sherry; then baked stuffed whitebait, Chablis sauce, followed by six Rhine wines, with Johannisberg proudly at their head. This was succeeded by French snails a la poulette, with six brands of rare Bordeaux to wash it down.

Next came pullet's heart, devilled—sauce parfait amour, and six of the finest brands of Burgundy, such as Chambertin and White Hermitage of '64, to choose from. Then came breast of reed bird with Perrier Jouet in splendid condition. This gave way to lobster, chicken, and shrimp salads then countless cheeses made their appearances—the Roqueforts and Camemberts—and the whole was topped off with brandy and water ices, rum omelettes, peaches in eau-de-vie, hot-house grapes, chestnuts raw and cooked; and, as a finale, coffee with ten liqueurs to select from. Between these courses there was music, and all this festivity and feasting took place on board a yacht.—Howard Paul in American Register.

English as She Should Be Sung.

Why not sing songs in English, and also sing them in better English? It is a shame that, with the great wealth of English poetry, so many composers prefer to pour forth imitation German Leider, and so many young students prefer to make havoc in the Teutonic or Italian language, rather than sing sensibly in their own mother tongue. When these students do condescend to warble in the vernacular they disguise the language so that it can not be understood. They have been told that English is a hard language to sing in, and therefore they mouth and distort words under the mistaken impression they are rendering it easier.

The fact is, the English requires a little more study to deliver fluently than Italian; but, with practice upon the closed vowels "a" and "ie," "gle," and "ing" terminations the difficulties vanish and a pure pronunciation is attained. And this is not nearly so difficult as for the German singer to attain a good pronunciation of his gutturals or for the French vocalist to overcome the nasal tendencies of his language. Singers, give your own language a fair chance.—Musical World.

Cultivation of Plants in Rooms.

The Willimantic Thread company some time since accidentally illustrated the influence of plants on the atmosphere. The nature of the operations of this company demanded a reasonable and constant humidity of the atmosphere in their shops. To obtain this they had employed two men and a spraying machine, but Col. Barrows, desiring to increase the comfort and pleasure of his operatives, commenced the cultivation of plants around the factory, and placed many in the rooms, employing one gardener to take care of them. The atmosphere was at once changed in character; the spraying machine was no longer needed, one man's wages were saved, and the operatives were surrounded by beautiful flowers and their lives made more pleasant.—Chicago Herald.

A Big Herd of Holstein Cattle.

F. C. Stevens, of Attica, N. Y., son of ex-Congressman Stevens, is engaged in the importation of Holstein cattle from Holland and Friesland, and has told a New York newspaper man something of his experiences. He had last year the largest herd of Holsteins in this country, numbering 280 head up to the time of his annual sale. The record of his famous cow Echo is still a wonder to milk-producers. She produced on the first year's trial 18,130 pounds of milk, and then after a rest of six weeks dry started on another year's record which showed 28,775 pounds. He was offered $10,000 for the cow and refused it. Shortly afterward she gave birth to triplets and died.—Chicago Tribune.

Affects the Vocal Organs.

Mr. Lennox Browne, an English physiologist, finds that drinking and smoking affect the vocal organs, statistics furnished by no less than 3 0 professional vocalists having shown him that a singer should avoid all stimulants.

DR. VANMONCISCAR,

THE WELL-KNOWN

SPECIALIST,

Proprietor & Consulting Physician of the Only Private Dispensary on the Pacific Coast, now permanently located at 132, 134, Third Street, Portland, Or.

DR. VANMONCISCAR has made the treatment of Private Diseases of Men a special study and practice for many years. Over 3000 cases treated yearly. Recent cases of private diseases cured in a short time. Ulcers, Humors and Blotches on Face or Body cured without giving Mercury or other Poisons. Mercury is the curse of the human race. Your children will suffer from its effects. Avoid it as you would avoid any deadly Drug, and use no more. These diseases are being cured at this Dispensary without Mercury.

DR. VANMONCISCAR

is a graduate of a regular Medical College, is well known over the United States and Canada by

Thousands of Old and Young Men he has Cured, and it is a well known fact that for years he has confined himself to the study and treatment of Sexual and Chronic Diseases, thus giving him advantages few possess. Dr. Vanmoncisar advises himself particularly to those who have already tried various physicians and remedies from whom they have received no benefit, and who, in fact, have done them more harm than good. Medicine, like all other sciences, is progressive, and every year shows proof of its advance. By a combination of remedies of great curative power, Dr. Vanmoncisar has so arranged his treatment that it will afford not only immediate relief, but permanent cures.

YOUNG MEN

who are suffering from the effects of youthful indiscretion showing some of the following symptoms: Nervious and Physical Debility, Impotency, Unexpected Lost Manhood, Abuses of the system, Exhausted Vitality, Confusion of ideas, Dull and Lost of Brilliancy in the Eye, Aversion to Society, Despondency, Pimples on the Face, Loss of Energy, and Frequency of Urinating. You may be in the first stage, but remember you are fast approaching the last. Do not let false pride and false modesty deter you from attending to your ailments. Many a bright and naturally gifted young man, endowed with genius, has permitted his case to run on and on, until prospects ruined his intellect, and finally sent him to a premature grave by victim. Remember that "Procrastination is the thief of time," so lay aside your pride, and consult one who thoroughly understands your ailment, and who will know your case, and find permanent relief for an ailment that has made day a drudgery and night hideous. Thousands upon thousands of men in good standing in the social world, of prominence in the world are to-day suffering from the fruits of their doings, the seeds of which were sown during moments of thoughtlessness. Young man turn and gaze upon thy companion, or seek the mirror for proof to substantiate this fact. Old Time, could he control the arm of Fate, or had he his life to live again, feels I could not appeal to you more sincerely. Let your mind wander back by the much cherished counsels of a loving father, and remember what I suffer to-day. Though you may for the present fill your station in society, the time is inevitable as fate when your brilliancy will, like a flash, depart, leaving you a stranded wreck—desolate, forsaken and lost; so embrace the opportunity and enjoy life and happiness longer. If you claim to be a man, act your part manly. Do not consult your lower self with the thought that Nature will help itself, for in doing so you not only fan the flame, but wreck Nature and yourself. Remember, "Large oaks from little acorns grow." Little the germ—vast themes.

NEW THEORY.

Principal Dawson, of McGill College, Montreal, delivered the presidental address before the British Association in the town hall of Birmingham. He dealt mainly with the subject of the geological formation of the bed of the Atlantic and the climatic influence on the distribution of water on the surface of the globe. He advanced the theory that the kernel of the earth is solid, but that there is liquid between the kernel and the surface. The crust of the earth, he said, is thicker and stronger than ever. The address was listened to attentively by two thousand persons and highly praised.

NORQUAY SHUFFLES THE CARDS.

An important change of portfolios in the Local Government is announced from Winnipeg. Dr. Harrison is created Minister of Statistics and Health in the room of Mr. Lariviere, who becomes Provincial Treasurer. Mr. C. P. Brown will be Provincial Secretary, and Dr. Wilson Minister of Public Works. Mr. Norquay has made himself Railway Commissioner. These changes were most unexpected, and together with creating the useless office assigned by Mr. Norquay to himself are looked upon with great disfavor by the public generally.

GETTING INTO AN HOSPITAL.

Vancouver News: Louis Siegler, of the German bark Gotha, who was refused admission to the Marine Hospital, Victoria, on Thursday night, in consequence of an unavoidable omission in the admission order, was afterwards taken to the Royal Hospital in that city where he was admitted. The officer in charge of the Burrard Inlet custom house telegraphed and wrote on Friday to the medical officer in charge, stating the facts, and the patient has since been received into the Marine Hospital. It is to be hoped that this is the last time that red tape will interfere with the admission of a man who might be in extremis.

GOOD-BYE!

Address and Presentation to Mr. Andrew Gray, late Manager of the Albion Iron Works.

Mr. Andrew J. Gray having resigned his position as manager of the Albion Iron Works, the employees of the company and friends of that gentleman, to the number of over 100, assembled in the Broughton street hall on Saturday evening last for the purpose of testifying, in a substantial manner, to him the regard and esteem in which he was held by them. Mr. Wm. Lorimer presided over the assemblage. He called upon Mr. Seabrook to read the address to Mr. Gray, which had received the unanimous endorsation of the employees by each one signing it, of which the following is the full text:

VICTORIA, Sept. 4, 1886.

To Andrew J. Gray, Esq., Manager of the Albion Iron Co.'s Works:

Actuated by considerations of high esteem equally for your fine social qualities as your thorough efficiency in the discharge of the duties that have devolved upon you as manager of the company, in whose service the undersigned, your co-employees are engaged; and having met to express our deep regret at the severance of your connection with the Albion Iron Works Company, and having in remembrance the long period of your associations with us, we offer you this gold watch, chain and locket, to perpetuate in your mind the kindly feeling that will remain in ours after your departure. To be possessed of a reliable honesty, with fertility of resources and a conscientious sense of responsibility, is a priceless attribute, and it is our pride to recognize these virtues in yourself, and in consequence offer you our faithful adieu, with an earnest desire for your future prosperity.

Mr. Shaw, on behalf of the subscribers, in a few well chosen and appropriate remarks, presented Mr. Gray with a gold watch and chain. Mr. Shaw referred to Mr. Gray's position and the honorable manner in which he discharged his duties satisfactorily alike to employer and employed.

Mr. Gray responded in a feeling manner. He thanked the donors for their kindness to him and appreciation of his services. Language failed him in expressing the high esteem in which he held those present. He trusted that whoever should succeed him would meet with the same courtesy as he had at all times received, and be able to carry away as pleasant a recollection of the many happy days he (Mr. Gray) had spent with them. Mr. Gray's remarks elicited round after round of applause.

The meeting afterwards resolved itself into one of general enjoyment and jollification. A programme was drawn up and gone through with, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, dances, recitations, etc. Those taking part in the entertainment being Messrs. J. McLagan, Gore, Shaw, Mann, Buckley, Plankult, O'Neill, Dodgson, Kettle, Russell, Orr, Bamford, Madden, Seabrook and others. The guest of the evening was specially agreeable and pleasant to all and took a part in the entertainment. The meeting broke up at an early hour, each and all delighted with the enjoyment in mirth and glee that they had experienced during the few hours they had been together, all joined in singing Auld Lange Syne before parting.

SHOWING THEM AROUND.

The British Columbia rifle team arrived in Ottawa on the morning of the 30th ult. They were at once taken in hand by their comrades in arms at the Capital, and accompanied by Lieut. Maynard Rogers, of the 43rd Battalion, visited all the principal places of interest in the city, and expressed themselves as highly pleased with the city of Ottawa. They were heard to remark that it was the prettiest place they ever saw. Among other places visited were the Military Museum at the Drill hall, the Geological Museum, the City hall and the Canadian Granite Company's Works. The party were to visit the parliament buildings in the afternoon of that day. Victoria should take a lesson from the foregoing, for it is a notorious fact that strangers and visitors arriving in this city from the east are treated in a manner that does not reflect great credit on the hospitality or good fellowship of our citizens generally. True it is that several are famed for their kindness, yet the fact remains that a considerable number of our prominent citizens are cold and indifferent to equally prominent personages from the east who visit Victoria. People from this city while sojourning in the east are treated in a different fashion, in the social circle, at places of public worship, as well as in the amusement halls. These visitors are no intruders. They are part and parcel of ourselves—the great Canadian family, the distinguished personages that would do honor to any country. Such of our people who entertain the belief that Victoria is the world are far astray; it is but a mere spec on the surface of this vast Dominion. If we expect to grow and prosper eastern people and capital must be encouraged to come hither, and should be received with open arms by every truly, loyal, progressive citizen.

THE GAME LAWS.

Ah Lee, the Chinese trader and owner of the sloop Minnie, who was arrested by Officer Walker on Friday, when unloading 870 pounds of deer hides (about 300 skins) got off by the skin of his teeth through the professional acumen of Mr. S. P. Mills. He was charged with being in unlawful possession, during the close season, of skins of deer killed contrary to law. The evidence showed that he was in possession of the skins on the 31st of August, but it was not proved that the deer were taken in a district where the game law was in force. The points raised by Mr. Mills were fatal to the prosecution and showed the necessity for amendments to the game law. The defendant, as shown by the evidence of Mr. Gutman, has several trading ports on the islands between Vancouver Island and the mainland, and here, it seems, the game law does not apply to all of these islands excepting that it there prohibits the killing of deer for their skins. The charge was not for killing, but for having in possession illegally, and as he did not arrive within the jurisdiction of the law until the open season had commenced it was not illegal possession in Victoria. The case was accordingly dismissed.

ESQUIMALT FORTIFICATION.

The Winnipeg Manitoban of the 1st inst., says that Col. Black, Adjudant-General of the Imperial troops at Halifax, and Col. Lane, military secretary, are in the city en route to British Columbia to make themselves acquainted with the plans and nature of the proposed fortifications at Esquimalt. They proceed west to-morrow or Friday morning and will return in about a month. Col. Lane has been in Canada for some time, having been stationed in Hamilton, Montreal and other places. He says the Pacific fortifications are looked on as being most important, and he and Col. Black are satisfying a desire common among all officers in the army to visit that coast and inform themselves thoroughly in regard to it. He thinks the proposal to establish an Imperial military station at Winnipeg an excellent one, placing as it would a large body of troops right in the centre of the Dominion.

LITTLE YUK LIN IN COURT.

The Child of Twelve Years who is Kept for Prostitution.

In the police court this forenoon the charge against Tai Ho, a dirty Chinese, who was arrested last week for keeping a house of prostitution, was allowed to stand until a second charge against her of cruelty to the child Yuk Lin, was investigated. The little girl was in court and was called as a witness, Mr. Vrooman acting as interpreter. She gave her evidence without hesitation, with the exception that she once asked the interpreter if she would be given back to "that woman." The particulars of this case are already familiar to the public. The evidence was taken:

Officer Sheppard testified that on Friday night last, in company with the Supt. of Police and other officers, he visited prisoners house in a place known as Bull's Run, off Esquard street. After entering the room the little girl, now in court, began to cry bitterly, and the prisoner fondled it; noticed that the child's left arm was all lacerated, and that the right arm had been broken and not properly set. In reply to the Supt. prisoner had said that the child had fallen down and broken her arm. The house is in an out-of-the-way place and is known to the police as a house of prostitution—the prisoner being the occupant or keeper. In my opinion the little girl is not twelve years of age. Saw nothing that would indicate what the child was kept there for.

Dr. Milne deposed that he had examined the girl, Yuk Lin, on Saturday and on Sunday. Would judge the girl to be 12 or 13 years of age. Saw that the right arm had been fractured, but not recently; had been badly set or not set at all, as the bones were overlapping. On the right shoulder there was considerable discoloration of the skin, and on the left shoulder blade there were several contusions and abrasions of the skin, also three contused wounds as it done by a blunt instrument. Also a severe contusion on the left side behind, over the tenth or eleventh rib; the skin was also discolored, and there was considerable swelling. The skin was very tender to the touch. This latter contusion had been made within forty-eight hours of the examination. The left arm near the shoulder, and in the arm pit, behind, is deeply discolored, and several of the wounds extend down as far as the wrist. These wounds were about an inch in size, and are rough and ulcerating, and appear as though done by a rough instrument. Observed on the same arm several cicatrices of old wounds and also on the left side. The legs from the thighs down are discolored in patches, and are very much marked about the knees; the left leg was considerably swollen from the knee to the ankle. The child was very dirty but appeared moderately well fed. The cicatrices bore evidence of having been burned into the skin.

Yuk Lin was sworn in the usual manner, and testified that she had been living with Tai Ho, who was not a relative. Tai Ho bought me—don't remember how long ago—perhaps two years. Was bought in China and bought here by Tai Ho. Did not receive much to eat since coming here with Tai Ho. My wrist was broken by Tai Ho, who hit it with a piece of wood; was not taken to a doctor, but it was allowed to grow itself and was never tied up. Some of the marks on my arms were burned by Tai Ho who touched burning pieces of paper against the flesh. The contusions and swellings described by the doctor were received, the witness swore, from beatings given her by Tai Ho.

To the Court—Tai Ho bought me to work for her; I swept the floor and made the fire. No one else lived in the house.

To Supt. Bloomfield—I was also beaten by a man who came to the house, because I was not willing. Tai Ho was not in the room at the time; I did not tell her because I was afraid she would scold me. Tai Ho paid $192 for me.

A Chinaman, who lives next door, testified to hearing the child crying frequently. The magistrate committed the prisoner to stand her trail at the next assizes, when she will, no doubt, receive the punishment that she is entitled to. The child, Yuk Lin, will, in the meantime, be taken care of by charitable citizens.

A FRUITFUL SOURCE OF TROUBLE.

Frederick Jensen, a hunter from one of the sealing schooners just returned from Behring's Sea, got drunk on Saturday and entering Portman's fruit store, behaved in about the same festive manner that a bull does when he finds itself in a china shop. Instead of breaking crockery, however, he smashed melons and played havoc with the fruit generally, but the damage being paid he was not prosecuted on that count. Officer Sheppard locked him up, and Officer Smith, acting gaoler, undertook to search him, when he was struck and kicked by the prisoner, his watch broken and his clothes torn. For this offence Jensen was fined $15 or one month's imprisonment. The fine was promptly paid by a companion.

Damiana makes the old young, and the weak strong and healthy.

SOMEBODY BLUNDERED.

Mr. H. Abbott has informed a reporter that the C. P. R. Co. has abandoned all idea of completing the road to Vancouver until legislation is procured. When the charter is extended to embrace the latter point, the land can be expropriated. The House of Commons will be applied to and the request of the company will no doubt be complied with at once. A more sensible course would be to compromise with the property owners. A failure to build the line by the time stipulated forfeits the deposit of quarter of a million with the Provincial government and renders nugatory the agreement with private syndicate. It would also place the citizens of Vancouver in a bad position for six months or more. Is the company certain that the legislature would agree to an extension of time?

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

Mr. William Marsh, of Lower Nicola, was fired at when riding along the road near Coutlie's. The bullet passed through his hat. The would-be assassin was concealed in the bushes by the roadside. The foot-pad is not even suspected, as Mr. Marsh is not known to have an enemy in the country. The object was probably robbery. Parties packing gold from Granite Creek are becoming wary as thieves and tramps are becoming more numerous.
